

New York State Conservative Party

 *Honoring the Past
Envisioning the Future*

Fall Reception 2023

October 25th, 2023

Dear Friend of the Conservative Party:

Welcome to our Sixty-First Anniversary Reception!

The NYS Conservative Party was a leading voice in the emergency of the modern conservative movement. In fact, members of the Party played key roles in the formation of many national conservative organizations including Young Americans for Freedom and the American Conservative Union.

Last year, we came close to winning a Governorship with Lee Zeldin. We were the margin of victory on a number of House seats while seeing gains in the State Legislature.

This year the Party is focused on many important local elections. Conservative Party candidates are well positioned to win elections in every part of the State. This will continue a trend in which Conservative Party enrollment and Conservative Party votes have grown each year.

Tonight, we honor political strategist John McLaughlin. A noted pollster, John, a New York resident, has a long relationship with the Conservative Party. His polling, strategic advice and tactical recommendations have contributed greatly to our success.

John will be receiving our James Buckley award. Senator Buckley who only recently passed was the epitome of a conservative gentleman involved in brass knuckles politics. He put the Conservative Party on the national map, a role that John McLaughlin has helped us maintain.

I am pleased that Emma-Jo Morris is our Keynote Speaker. As the National Political Editor of Breitbart News, Emma is an eminent conservative journalist who worked as the Deputy National Political Editor of the NY Post, as associate producer at Hannity and with the American Conservative Union.

Her "laptop from hell" scoops are must read.

After sixty years of dedicated service to the conservative movement and the Orange County Conservative Party, Chairman John DeLessio has retired. Tonight, we will pause to honor him for a truly stellar career in local conservative politics.

Enjoy your evening. Help us have a great Election Day. Know we are there to fight for you and look forward to our next battles.

Sincerely,

The Charles Edison Memorial Award

The man for whom our Party's highest award is named was a man of many passions and pursuits. As the son of the famous inventor, Thomas Alba Edison, much was expected of him. His life was a continuous challenge beginning with an education at MIT. During the New Deal, he held a number of different posts, including Secretary of the Navy. Working for FDR as an Al Smith Democrat, he began to see that government was not the solution to every problem. As a reform-minded Governor of New Jersey, he exposed waste, excess and corruption. He went on to become a successful businessman, a man of the Arts and letters as well as one of the founders of the Conservative Party in 1962. Poet, statesman, philanthropist and entrepreneur, Charles Edison embodied the spirit and ideals of the American conservative movement.

The James L. Buckley Award

Senator James L. Buckley was elected to the United States Senate in 1970 on the Conservative Party Line only. Senator Buckley has served in all three branches of the federal government; and lived his life with integrity, distinction and honor. Senator Buckley lived by the powerful words of Plato: The measure of a man is what he does with power. The James L. Buckley Award is presented to an individual who also lives their life with the same integrity, distinction and honor.

John McLaughlin

CEO/Partner

McLaughlin & Associates

John McLaughlin has worked professionally as a strategic consultant and pollster for over 40 years. During this time, he has earned a reputation for helping some of America's most successful corporations and winning some of the toughest elections in the nation. Since 2016 John works as an advisor and pollster for President Donald Trump. His political clients have included former Presidential candidates Steve Forbes and Fred Thompson, former California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger, former Florida Governor Jeb Bush, former Georgia Governor Nathan Deal and 22 current and former U.S. Senators and 16 current Republican members of Congress.

Internationally, John has done work in Israel for Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, The Conservative Party in the United Kingdom, former Conservative Prime Minister Stephen Harper of Canada, and he advised Hungarian Prime Minister Viktor Orban in his 2018 and 2022 landslide re-elections.

He is a founding partner of Opiniones Latinas, a public opinion research company dedicated to researching opinions of Latinos nationwide. John has appeared on every major broadcast and cable channel, as well as prominent radio talk shows across America. His articles have been published in a wide range of publications including Newsmax, National Review, Middle East Quarterly, Campaigns and Elections, and The Polling Report.

His work has been recognized by winning Telly and PR Week Campaign Awards.

John is a graduate of Fordham College (B.A) and holds an M.B.A. from Fordham University with concentrations in Finance and Quantitative Methods. He is also a member of MENSA.

Together with Scott Rasmussen, John McLaughlin executes and analyzes the Job Creators Network Foundation Small Business IQ Poll. For over 2 years the SBIQ poll is the only scientific monthly poll of economic sentiment of small business employers.

Emma-Jo Morris

Political Editor

Breitbart

"This is a moment where honest journalism is more critical than ever, as we watch every major power center working in coordination to undermine and lie to the people. Breitbart is a leader in the industry — unique in its bold style, its independence, and in its relentless pursuit of answers — and every day in my role at Breitbart will be an unkind day to the corrupt establishment."

Expertise: Politics, Democrat-Media Complex, can speak and write French

Location: New York, NY

Education: Concordia University, Bachelors in Political Science focusing in Comparative Politics and Western Political Theory

Career: Emma-Jo Morris is the Politics Editor at Breitbart News.

She began her career as a producer of "Hannity" at Fox News Channel, before being hired by the New York Post as Deputy Politics Editor, running national politics coverage.

Morris is responsible for some of the most explosive stories of the last decade, authoring the Post's exclusive "laptop from Hell” series. While at the Post, Morris also secured rare interviews with subjects including dissidents from North Korea and Xinjiang, publishing insight into some of the most secretive regimes on earth.

Since joining Breitbart, Morris has published multiple investigative series, covering the education, media, and medical establishments. She has testified to Congress on the relationship between the US Intelligence Community, Big Tech, and the media, as it relates to journalism and press freedom, and has been featured in outlets across the political spectrum, from Fox News to New York Magazine.

She currently lives in New York City, but grew up in Québec.
